

FORMER PUPILS WILL HONOR HIM

A Mass-Meeting of McGuire's Boys at Chamber of Commerce.

DR. ALDERMAN'S GLOWING TRIBUTE

President of University of Virginia Regarded the Lamented Teacher As Man of Great, Even Untold Usefulness—Funeral To-morrow.

The death of Professor John Peyton McGuire, which occurred yesterday morning at his home, came as a great shock to a multitude of friends and admirers throughout the city and the State. He has been prominent in the life of the city for over forty years, and during that time many thousands of the city's youth have passed under his guidance as the head of McGuire's University School. They one and all gather in the expression of grief that swells up from every side.

At a meeting of alumni committee of the school yesterday, it was decided to hold a mass meeting to-day at noon, at which resolutions of regret would be passed and active pull-bearers chosen. It is hoped by the committee that every student and alumnus of the school will attend this meeting, which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The funeral arrangements have all been made, with the exception of the selection of pull-bearers. The funeral will be from St. James Protestant Episcopal Church to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. The interment will be in Hollywood.

Pointed to High Ideals.
When the death of Professor John Peyton McGuire became known, the thousands who had sat at his feet and listened to his high and noble precepts heard the news in sorrow. They felt, as none else could feel, that the loss was irreparable, and that none could teach as he had done. A great teacher had died, and there was none to take his place.

For forty years the man and teacher had labored, and during the forty years of progress that has gone on over the land since the establishment of his school in 1866, among the forces making for the good and betterment of men, none has been more potent than the influence of his life and his high ideals. His influence was felt in the school-room and lived in his daily life. It has, indeed, been said that the first and foremost thing he taught his pupils was "that honor should be with their blood." It was the high and lofty purposes of life as he expounded them, that made his school the school of noble character, through which it was but necessary to pass to acquire a share of the ideals of the master. His aim was as much to educate the heart and moral being as for the attainment of mere facts of literature and language.

The end was not unexpected, for he had been all his life a man of high service were weighing upon him, and death came quietly, naturally, as in the working out of some well-defined purpose. The end came at 2:30 yesterday morning at the family residence, No. 7 North Belvidere Street.

Clergyman's Son.

Mr. McGuire was born at "The Parsonage," in Essex county, September 30, 1833. He was a member of the younger branch of McGuire's of Pennsylvania, in Ireland, who crossed the Atlantic and found a home on the shores of the free continent of America. They finally settled near Winchester, Va., about 1841, and from this sturdy Irish blood, have descended some of the most distinguished of the Virginian families, many of them having shed blood in the war of the Revolution, and others having served with distinction in the army of the Confederacy. Still others rose to the highest places of trust and honor in the Commonwealth.

John Peyton McGuire was the son of the Rev. John Peyton McGuire, rector of South Parish from 1852 to 1882, and who was one of the most successful ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Virginia, and it was of him that Bishop Meade, speaking of the work he had done in the Rappahannock Valley, declared "that it was the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes."

Mr. McGuire's mother was Maria Mercer Gannett, of Essex, who was the daughter of the Hon. James Mercer Gannett, of Elmwood, and Mary Eleanor Mercer, his wife. His grandfather was the distinguished Colonel William McGuire, who took a prominent part in the Revolutionary War and later studied law and rose to the position of chief justice of the Territory of Mississippi.

Mr. McGuire was educated in a school maintained by his father "The Parsonage," at the Episcopal High School in Alexandria, of which his father was principal from 1852 until the breaking out of the war between the States, and at the University of Virginia, where he was matriculated in 1854. For two years he studied there under the celebrated constellation of stars in the educational world. Dr. Goodspeed, Professor Francis H. Smith and Dr. Schiele De Vere, leaving the University in 1856, he taught as assistant to his father at the High School in Alexandria, when the war began and put an end for a time to his educational work.

Becomes a Teacher.

After the close of the war, throughout which he served with distinction, he opened his school in Richmond.

This was in 1855. On the start the young educator had but twenty-five pupils, but as year after year passed, there was a gradual increase, and during the season of 1902-13 the roll numbered one hundred and ninety-six. During the forty years of his service he has graduated four thousand pupils, who have made their mark in the world, due in part to the influences of their teacher and friend. The following words from Dr. Edwin A. Alderman of the University of Virginia are interesting:

"As a man and teacher in our community and throughout the contiguous territory—in fact, in the State at large—Mr. McGuire has exerted an

BALTIMORE, April 29.—Under smiling skies to-day a procession of ecclesiastics filed out of Calvert Hall. First came ranks of sanctuary boys, then the members of the seminary choir, then other seminaries, then students of various institutions of learning, all these in sober black and white, then the faculty of the Catholics university, in black, touched here and there with varicolored silks, Franciscans in brown habits, white frocked Dominicans, and archbishops and Jesuits, bishops and archbishops in purple vestments, each with his attendant, the apostolic delegate and his train-bearers, and then the cardinal in full pontificals of red, with ermine capes. The celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of Baltimore Cathedral had begun. The procession filed down to the side entrance of the cathedral grounds, through the steps to the main entrance to the ancient building and up the main aisle to the sanctuary. There were there the cardinal archbishop of Baltimore, the apostolic delegate, Monsignor Diomedea Falcone and almost every bishop and archbishop of the Roman Catholic Church whose See is within the confines of the United States.

BULLET CRASHED INTO CAR; GRAZED MAN'S CHIN

New York Couple Have Narrow Escape on Southern Railway in Virginia.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Failure to get a section in the Pullman probably saved the lives or prevented the serious injury of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Goodspeed of Buffalo, N. Y., on the Southern Railroad near Culpeper to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Goodspeed were on their way home from Birmingham, Ala. They were able to get a section, but the car had to take upper berth seats from that point.

Mr. Goodspeed was protesting to the conductor against having to occupy seats, when there was a section vacant in the car. The conductor was explaining that the section unoccupied was to have been taken by a man who had not shown up, and told his passengers that he and Mrs. Goodspeed could occupy the section.

The words were scarcely out of the conductor's mouth when a bullet slipped through the window of the section, and struck Mr. Goodspeed and his wife were about to remove, shattering the glass and passing through the opposite window, just grazing the chin of the man sitting in the seat. Mr. Goodspeed did not take the vacant section, but satisfied himself with the seat he had.

Stood Unsteadily and With Great Effort—Pays Tribute to Wife.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 29.—Standing unsteadily and with great effort before an audience of 2,500 persons in Zion Tabernacle this afternoon, John Alexander Dowie charged his traducers. If any were present, to make their accusations before the whole congregation.

The followers of Voliva, the new leader in Zion City's affairs, however, were attending a rival meeting, set for the same hour at Zion College building. There 5,000 of the city's inhabitants were gathered, together with the Zion choir, in purple vestments, each with his attendant, the apostolic delegate and his train-bearers, and then the cardinal in full pontificals of red, with ermine capes.

Carried in by Negroes.

Those who listened to Dowie were mostly visitors. In front of the platform and in the choir loft were probably 100 faithful Dowieites. Dowie was borne bodily by two stalwart negro attendants from an ante-room to the platform and deposited upon his feet before the elaborate altar. He was attired in a new apostolic robe of white, gold and purple. On his head was a turban of marvellous pattern, embroidered in purple and gold. He delivered his address, seated before the altar. Only occasionally was he roused to an unusual pitch of earnestness, did he rise.

Mrs. Dowie, who has severed her allegiance to Voliva, sat in a wicker chair in the foreground, and he said "I am among Dowie's followers in the congregation. Except for former Mayor R. D. Harper, Dowie was alone on the platform. He delivered the hymns and led the prayer in a firm voice. He prefaced his sermon by a spirited denial of the charge

Premier Warns Disorderly Element Government Will Be Firm.

Strikers Ca. Disorders on the Streets, 1 Are Subdued. City Arming Military Aspect—People Awaiting With Great Anxiety.

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, April 29.—Premier Sarrien, in a speech delivered to-day, gave warning to the disorderly element that the government would be dealing firmly with any outbreak on May 1. This is the first speech the premier has made in the electoral campaign, and it dealt with all kinds of questions.

"The first duty of government worthy of the name," said M. Sarrien, "is to insure order in streets and freedom to work without interruption. We are resolved to apply law without passion and without weakness to all disorders of the nation, whether they may be, whatever names assume, or whatever end they may have. A country like France can prosper and develop commerce, increase its wealth and ameliorate the lot of the mass of its social fabric only through peace and order. Violence can only bring about the worst of reaction and disorder."

Military Going City.

The city is assuming distinctly military aspect. Military police have not yet been established, but soldiers of duty through the streets, suggesting the days of the longer excitement. Special trains come to bring in reinforcements. These are quartered principally in the Champs Elysees, the government troops are in the city, and the old danger of a riot is still present.

The military power of Paris has taken the suggestion of requisitioning the extensive barracks of the Tivoli Vaux Hall for military purposes. This building, formerly used for meetings of the revolutionary party, is now being used for the purpose of housing the military police. The military police are being distributed in the city, and the old danger of a riot is still present.

Small Disturbances.

After a meeting of printers to-day a disturbance between strikers and non-striker police in which a non-striker shot seriously wounded a striker in the arm and another man lost an eye. A group of jewelers to-day created disorder outside the establishments that are being to operate by endeavoring to enter the city. A number of foreign workmen gathered in a hall in Gaite Street and passed a resolution not to work on May 1st. It appears probable that the cabinet will remain intact to-day.

HEAD OF GOVERNMENT NOW FACING CRISIS IN PARIS

WARM STRUGGLE FOR PRESIDENT

Friends of Peters and Cannon Claim Victory With Much Confidence for Favorites.

PLEDGE MATTER DISCUSSED

Cannon Followers Say President Peters Cannot Yet Count Enough.

Whether President R. Lee Peters or Mr. James E. Cannon will land the plum of presiding officer of the new Common Council is a question, if the apparently well-posted friends of the two aspirants are to be listened to.

Aldermen and councilmen say Peters will win, and aldermen and councilmen say the honor will fall on Mr. Cannon's shoulders. So there it is, largely a matter of whose judgment is the better.

Division is found in nearly all the wards concerning the question. For example, Mr. John J. Lynch, down in Jefferson, who is a pretty good runner, and who keeps up pretty well with what is going on, is earnestly supporting Mr. Cannon, and advances the opinion that he will win.

On the other hand, Captain Morgan R. Mills, who led his ticket in Jefferson, is one of the strong Peters backers, and seems confident of victory for his favorite. The Peters people are claiming enough votes to elect him with ease, but the followers of Mr. Cannon do not concede this by any manner of means.

Are Not Committed.

"They are claiming votes they will never land," said a Cannon follower last night. "The gentleman in question called names, and said he knew of several on the Peters list with whom he had talked personally, and their answers were: 'We are committed to no man, and will wait until the meeting is held before we determine what we will do.'"

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, VA., April 29.—It was nearly 12 o'clock last night when the jury, after six hours, announced they could not agree in the second trial of John W. Richards, at Floyd Courthouse, on the charge of shooting Maurice K. Francis, of Roanoke, while on his way to visit his fiancée, Miss Grace Link, on July 20th, last. Francis was killed from ambush. The jury stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal, the same as on the former trial, six months ago.

CAR CONDUCTOR MORTALLY HURT

And Two Passengers Wounded on a Salisbury-Spencer Street Car.

A NEGRO RUNS AMUCK

Did Not Fancy "Jim Crow" Provisions for Himself and Companion.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SALISBURY, N. C., April 29.—Conductor W. A. Wiggins, of the Salisbury and Spencer Street Railway Company, was fatally shot on a street car between this place and Spencer to-day, by John Black, alias Joe Smith, colored, of Winterville, J. W. Ring, of Elkins, N. C., who was a passenger on the car, and was also severely shot in the arm, and a unknown traveling man sustained a shot in the neck by the same man. Immediately after the shooting Black took to the woods with pistol in hand, and made his escape. Strenuous efforts are being made to-night to apprehend the desperado.

The car on which the tragedy occurred had stopped on a siding, and Conductor Wiggins ordered Black, who was a passenger, to take a rear seat, which, according to the rules of the company, are allotted to colored people. Under threat of being put off Black jumped from the car and opened fire on the conductor, who was shot in the abdomen and now lies mortally wounded and unconscious in a hospital here. The wounds of Mr. Ring and the traveling man are not considered dangerous.

Headed by the sheriff, Dr. Julian, of Rowan, a posse of about five hundred men is scouring the country for Black, who is believed to be hiding. He was fired upon with a shotgun by James Troxler, a member of the posse, but was not struck.

A negro woman who was in company with Black at the time of the shooting, has been landed in jail. She refuses to give any information as to his whereabouts. Sheriff Julian has offered a reward of fifty dollars for the capture of the negro. Indignation has reached white heat, and trouble is feared if Black is caught.

Many Injured in Battle of Miners

(By Associated Press.)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 29.—Union and non-union miners clashed again last night at Paint Creek mines near Windber, where, a week ago, a mob had to be dispersed by a volley from the muskets of the deputies. As a result of last night's riot two men are dying in the hospital at Windber, a third is probably fatally stabbed, several others sustaining various injuries and seven men are under arrest for holding to riot. Since the last trouble the saloons at Windber have been kept closed, and last night the men violated the saloons at Paint Creek. A union and a non-union man got into a quarrel and a knife was drawn by one of the men. Immediately there was a rush from all sides to the support of the contestants. Knives and guns were drawn and bullets began to fly. The battle lasted for half an hour, and when the crowd dispersed, men were lying along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks for a distance of fifty yards from stabs and bullet wounds. The sheriff at Windber was notified, and with twenty-one deputies, arrived after the riot was over. They arrested the leaders,

The troops to go are the First Cavalry from Fort Clark and Fort San Antonio, Texas, and the Infantry regiment from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming. A telegram asking that only the reduced number be sent was received at the War Department to-day and orders to that effect were promptly issued. The remainder of the troops originally directed to proceed to San Francisco have been ordered not to move until further orders. The War Department officials decline to discuss the reasons for General Greely's request, but the impression given is that it probably is due to a wish of the citizens' committee of San Francisco not to have the government incur the expense due to their transportation so that the money may be available for relief work instead. The transportation charge for the men probably would have aggregated more than

MONEY IN CITY TREASURY SAFE

People Attend Services and Concerts at Golden Gate Park. Rigid Economy in Distribution of Relief Supplies—Troops Sent.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—All possible work of a municipal character was suspended to-day, and the tired officers, who for nearly two weeks have labored incessantly with little sleep to bring a semblance of order out of chaotic conditions, sought rest and gave some attention to pressing personal needs.

General Greely promulgated his plan for the distribution of relief supplies. According to this plan, the unburnt part of the city will be divided into seven districts in charge of army officers, who will assume control of all the relief stations now established. Responsible civilians will be installed, under salary, at the substations for clerical work and daily records and checks will be kept. As the period of extreme distress has passed, the issuance of rations will at the earliest possible moment be confined to helpless women and children, and refused to able-bodied men. Rations will be confined to infants and invalids. Rigid economy is enjoined on every officer engaged in relief work. In each of the seven districts there will be one hundred stations. The amount of food to be allowed each person, the rate of distribution, the rationing, is expected. The allowance, in a measure, is based on the army rations.

Plan to Finance City.

At a meeting to-day of James D. Phelan, chairman of the Finance Committee, and a group of prominent lawyers and bankers a plan was broached for financing the city, which it is hoped will meet with the endorsement of the general committee. As it is estimated that the city has suffered a loss of $500,000 by the fire, it is said that there is a possibility of money in San Francisco to reconstruct the city, and that the people must look elsewhere for funds to rehabilitate their destroyed fortunes.

Mr. Phelan said that if the money were borrowed through ordinary channels, the rate of interest would add a burden that could not be borne, and the city would be forced to look to Congress asking the United States to endorse the proposed bonds of San Francisco. With this guarantee of the government, the city would be able to go into the financial market of the world and borrow money at a low rate of interest on bonds to run for fifty years and secured by a mortgage on the best portion of the city.

Mr. Phelan asserted that it was by such measures that the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific Railroads were built, and that railways in the Philippines became assured to the people of the islands.

Sermons and Concerts.

To-morrow the Red Cross expects to have an individual ticket system in operation, and this will aid the army in preventing abuses. The number of people without substantial shelter has been reduced to a minimum. The health committee proposes to-day the applications for accommodations have ceased.

Religious services were held in the open air in many places to-day, and in churches that were pronounced safe for immediate use through gathered to listen to sermons.

The distribution of the people to make the best of the recent disaster was aided to-day by the resumption of Sunday afternoon concerts in Golden Gate Park.

There were some extensions in the electric car service to-day, and people in the city are beginning to move about. The fire department is now being afforded quick transportation to the water front and points in the burned area, where they may be obliged to labor.

City Treasury Safe.

City officers were highly elated to-day to find the contents of the municipal treasury intact. The vaults were a part of the City Hall that escaped the fire. An expert opened the doors this morning and found gold, silver and securities scattered over the floor, but safe and unharmed. The vault contained $5,500,000 in currency, $300,000 in securities of the German Savings Bank, and $12,000,000 of unsold city bonds.
